Re: Integrity, Teamwork, Commitment

Penny,

On behalf of Hidell Architects I feel that Libra-Tech Corporation is founded on the highest ethical standards "the values of honesty, quality and hard work". These 'core values' have defined the soul of the organization and are of significant importance to those inside the organization because they guide all the actions endured during the course of reviewing and selecting furniture items and, to the installation and coordination of those items on a variety of scaled projects. I have personally seen these values in action over the past nine years, working very closely with Libra-Tech and their staff on projects such as Farmington Public Library, Watsonville Public Library, Warren Public Library, Loma Colorado Public Library and the Bastrop Public Library.

Without any doubt Libra-Tech and their staff possesses a quality of success, unparalleled project management services in addition to exceptional real-time project team communications. With excellent communication skills and coordination with a variety of manufacturers during the shop drawing process to the installation process allowed all aspects of the projects to reach their highest standards expected by the client and architect.

Libra-Tech is a leader in the furniture industry (from coordination of shelving and shelving types with a variety of stack lighting options to meet the client needs, as well as the coordination of stack lighting with task lighting for reader tables), their competent and inspiring which determined the effectiveness on the projects, as well as determined the way problems were solved and tasks were accomplished. They performed with stellar results, promoting a sense of openness and partnership with all other trades as well as client.

Libra-Tech's personal attention to the client's needs and standard of service is one-of-a-kind. I believe on the onset their commitment for the projects to succeed ensured a trust and loyalty with all parties (City staff, Library staff, contractors and sub contractors).

I would like to refer to Libra-Tech and their staff as our "respected friend's" and we can not wait until we can work together again.

Best Regards,
Hidell Associates Architects
